Rolex

There is no question about it, Rolex is a legend that captivates millions of people. Its renown is no coincidence: The innovativeness, precision, longevity, reliability, recognition value, and exemplary value retention are just a few of the factors that motivate hundreds of thousands of people to purchase this signature wristwatch every year.

However, it is not just the watch itself that entices thousands of people each year to delve into the history of this unique brand, it is also the THE book on Rolex, The Watch Book Rolex by teNeues. This book makes the perfect gift for collectors, for connoisseurs, for watch enthusiasts, and, of course, for aficionados of the premium book that has already sold more than 100,000 copies.

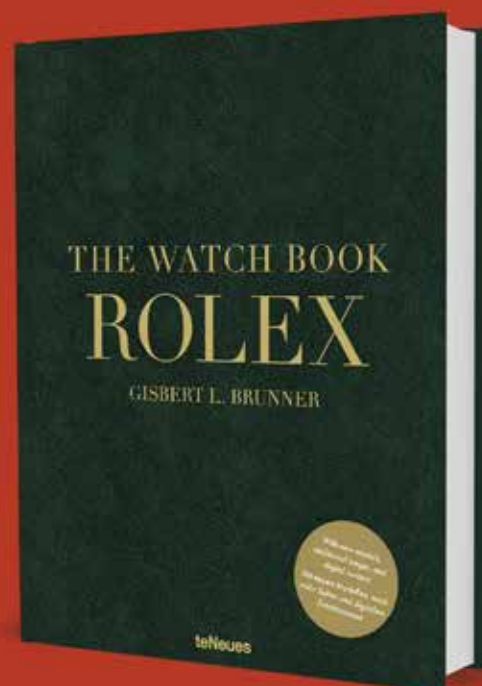

The words of acknowledged Rolex expert Gisbert Brunner bring the history of Rolex to life; technical details and exciting background information impart both precise knowledge and emotional exhilaration. The high-quality green velvet interior, along with the characteristic gold embossing of the title, make this book a unique gift.

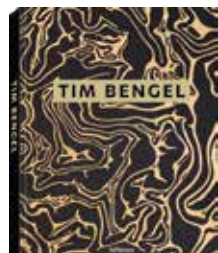

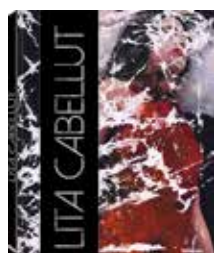

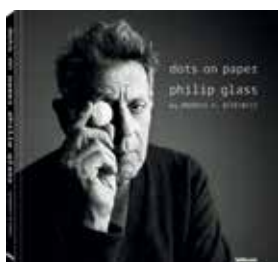

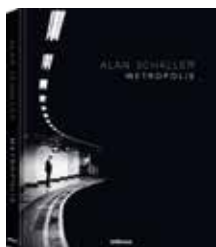

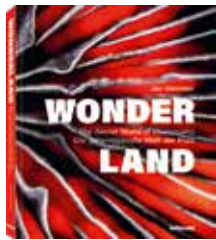

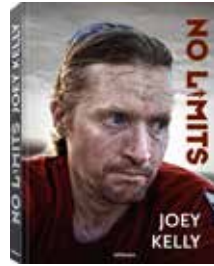

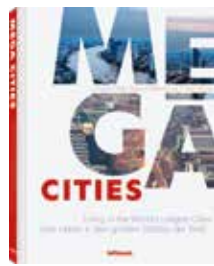

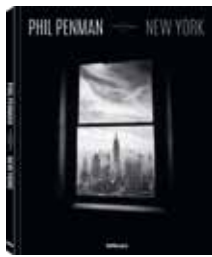

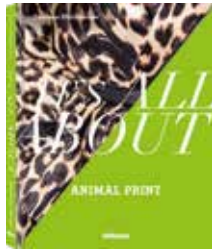

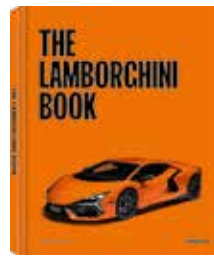

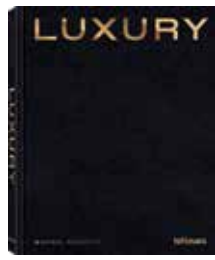

One of my favourite reviews sums it up perfectly:

"Amazing" is the way I would describe this book! The materials it is made from, the texture of the cover, the quality of the pictures – it all exceeds my expectations.

What's more, no matter how many times you pick up this book and randomly start reading, you will always learn something new. It is an inexhaustible source of information that will show you why ROLEX is the king, given the level of quality expected from its watches since day one of the company's existence.

So don't miss out on this opportunity to become a part of the avid Rolex community!

Gisbert L. Brunner has been passionately devoted to wrist-watches, pendulum clocks, and other precision timepieces since 1964. During the quartz crisis of the 1970s, his love for mechanical watches grew even stronger. His ardent enthusiasm for collecting and his vast expertise inspired him to publish his first articles in GQ, ZEIT and Chronos in the early 1980s. To date, he has published more than twenty books on the fascinating world of watches.

In celebration of the grand occasion of the 75th anniversary

René Staud is the grand seigneur of automotive photography. He achieved his major breakthrough in 1985 by developing the The Magicflash®, a lighting system specially designed to meet the needs of studio photography. His system is still state of the art today and is part of the secret behind Staud's characteristic style. This innovative area lighting technology gave him his start in automotive photography, and over the years, the models of all major car brands have appeared in front of his lens. Several of René Staud's best-selling books have been published by teNeues, including The Mercedes 300 SL Book, The Porsche 911 Book, and The Jaguar Book.

- This striking coffee table book celebrates the major milestone of the 75th anniversary of Porsche sports cars
- The silver foil cover with its elegant glossy look makes it an exciting gift
- Another automobile coffee table book by star photographer René Staud guarantees good sales

What does life look like in ten of the world's largest cities?

Christoph Mohr has lived and worked in Cologne since 1999. As a camera assistant there, he worked on feature films such as Lammbock and Das Wunder von Bern, as well as documentaries such as Soldatenglück und Gottes Segen and Der große Ausverkauf. After a filming stint in Manila, Christoph was so inspired by the photographs he brought back with him that he decided to become a photographer. His artistic use of light and color enables him to take impressive snapshots of the regions he visits.

„I want to evoke awe and reverence. Only by doing so will there be a future for our children“

Jan Vermeer

Jan Vermeer is a professional photographer from the Netherlands. He has visited over fifty countries, including Antarctica, Iceland, Congo, Namibia, and the remarkable Aldabra Atoll in the Indian Ocean. His photographs have received awards in prestigious photography competitions, including Wildlife Photographer of the Year 2022. His latest project, which is about mushrooms, has been published world-wide in magazines like National Geographic, BBC Wildlife magazine, and Focus, to name just a few. To Jan, the most important thing is showing the beauty of the natural world in its purest form.

- This book is like an LSD trip for the eyes – intoxicating colors, astonishing shapes, and fascinating details!

Following in the footsteps of Jane Goodall

Married couple Anup Shah and Fiona Rogers are nature photographers who spend months in the great outdoors studying and photographing life in the wild. With their different but complementary styles, they aim to capture images that are at once thought-provoking and immersive. Their publications include extensive features in National Geographic, Geo, Smithsonian, National Wildlife, and BBC Wildlife magazines. They have published a book on chimpanzees, Tales from Gombe, and another on the animals of the Maasai Mara entitled The Mara. Their work has been on display in Japan, India, Italy, Lithuania, the UK, and the USA.

*Lars Beusker is the 2022
Nature Photographer of the Year*

A native of Westphalia, Germany, photographer Lars Beusker specializes in animal portraits. His work was honored with the 2022 Nature Photographer of the Award. At every available opportunity, he travels into the wild to capture one-of-a-kind moments in black and white, the likes of which are rarely seen. His unique selling point: making eye contact with the animals to create a distinctive sense of intimacy. His works are represented in galleries around the world, and are now featured here in Beusker's first monograph.

- The first monograph by the 2022 Nature Photographer of the Year, Lars Beusker
- Exclusive, high-quality wildlife photography in black and white
- A unique approach: No one else gets this close to them – sometimes just two meters separate the photographer from his wild subjects

A successful combination of contrasts, architecture, and scenes of everyday life

Alan Schaller is a London-based photographer specializing in black-and-white photography, whose pieces continue to shed light on the realities and diversities of human life. They are often abstract, incorporating elements of surrealism and geometry, and characterized by a high degree of contrast. Schaller's photographs have been exhibited around the world and published in outlets such as The Guardian, The New York Times, and The Independent. He is an Ambassador for Leica cameras and co-founder of the Street Photography International Collective.

- The first monograph by the London-based photographer, whose work is featured in exhibitions around the world
- A highly relevant topic: human loneliness as a result of the digital world and life in the big city – poignant images
- As a Leica Ambassador and founder of the Street Photography International Collective with 1.7 million followers on Instagram, Alan Schaller is guaranteed to attract widespread media attention

Born in 1960, this French artist has been experimenting with photography since his youth, but it was in the world of film that he first attracted attention. He made several short films, most of which won awards. Faced with the financial constraints imposed by the film industry, Christophe Jacrot returned to photography, an art he now devotes himself to entirely.

„There are two ways to photograph the world: to capture its horrors or to sublimate them“

Christophe Jacrot

- The famed French photographer of melancholy creates a poignant world of images
- The first monograph by French photographer Christophe Jacrot
- Perfection and poetry – a unique take on extreme weather conditions

Alfred Weidinger (born in 1961) studied art history and classical archaeology at the University of Salzburg. He has been managing director of OÖ-Landes-Kultur GmbH in Linz/Austria since April 2020. His research focuses on classical modernism and contemporary photography, as well as the media arts.

Maria Reitter-Kollmann (born in 1974) studied art history and philosophy. She has been working as a freelance research assistant at OÖ-Landes-Kultur GmbH in Linz/Austria since 2021, and as a curator since 2005. Her main research fields are the history of color photography, along with contemporary art and the exploration of individual art from an art theory perspective.

*The fascinating history of early color photography
in a sumptuous coffee table book*

- Previously unpublished treasures from the early days of color photography, compiled for the first time in one volume
- Motifs known only in black and white have a radically different effect in color
- The perfect gift for fans of photography

Paolo Di Paolo was born in Larino, a small town in southern Italy, in 1925. While studying history and philosophy at La Sapienza University, he developed an interest in figurative art using the medium of photography. His first photograph was published in the cultural weekly Il Mondo in 1954. As a result of friendships made in the film and art world, he took private and exclusive photographs of the greatest intellectuals, artists, actors, and directors of the time; mainly focusing on documenting society and people, as well as chronicling the changes from the post-war period in Italy to the country's economic boom.

- Contains previously unpublished photographs from the famous La lunga strada di sabbia (The Long Sandy Road) reports by iconic director Pier Paolo Pasolini
- A unique opportunity to take a look at a rediscovered documentary photo archive
- Italy as a popular vacation destination is captured during one of its most exciting eras

*An intimate portrait of composer Philip Glass in powerful
black-and-white photographs*

Andreas H. Bitesnich began taking photographs in 1988 at the age of 24. The range of his photographic work is broad, spanning from graphically composed and perfectly lit nudes and portraits in the studio to spontaneous travel and street photography. His work has been exhibited in international museums and galleries for over two decades and has also appeared in over twenty books since 1998.

- ▶ Tremendous musical art captured in a coffee table book – with an unconventional style and design reminiscent of a record album cover
- ▶ A portrait of one of the most famous composers of our time
- ▶ There will be a concert tour to mark Philip Glass' 85th birthday, which is guaranteed to attract media attention

Tim Bengel was born in Stuttgart in 1991 and studied art history and philosophy at Eberhard Karls University of Tübingen. Social media videos of his works created using his innovative gold and sand collage technique earned him international recognition. Along with these gold and sand pieces, he is known for his gold-engraved gravestones and avocado bagel cast in gold. All of his pieces explore the zeitgeist. Tim Bengel lives and works in Esslingen, not far from Stuttgart. His works are exhibited worldwide, and are now appearing in a monograph for the first time.

- The first monograph by the successful newcomer, with a high social media reach
- Along with the unusual and original works of art being showcased, the luxurious interior and colored edges makes this book a work of art in its own right
- A beautiful coffee table book for collectors interested in art
